SEVEN FROM LEVENE, NEALE, BENDER, YOO & BRILL NAMED “RISING STARS” IN 2010 LISTING OF OUTSTANDING YOUNG LAWYERS

(LOS ANGELES) – Six partners and an associate at Levene, Neale, Bender, Yoo & Brill L.L.P., one of Los Angeles’ leading bankruptcy and business reorganization law firms, have been selected for inclusion on the 2010 Southern California “Rising Stars” list of outstanding young lawyers in the region.

Named to the prestigious list in a survey of their peers are partners Todd M. Arnold, Michelle S. Grimberg and Juliet Y. Oh, all of West Los Angeles; Todd A. Frealy of Pasadena; Monica Y. Kim of Encino Hills; and Jacqueline L. Rodriguez of Encino. Anthony A. Friedman of the San Fernando Valley, an associate at the Century City-based firm, was also named to the list.

The “Rising Stars” poll is conducted annually by the publishers of Super Lawyers and Law & Politics magazines. The process is based on surveying active attorneys throughout Southern California for evidence of peer recognition and professional achievement. Each of the Levene Neale “Rising Stars” has been recognized multiple times.

“Recruiting highly talented young attorneys is essential to maintaining our position as a premier bankruptcy firm,” said David L. Neale, co-managing partner at LNBY&B. “We take great pride in the fact that seven of our most gifted practitioners have been recognized by their peers as outstanding professionals.”

Founded in 1995, Levene, Neale, Bender, Yoo & Brill has forged a strong reputation as one of Los Angeles’ premier bankruptcy boutiques, successfully representing a broad spectrum of businesses and individuals facing extreme financial challenges.
